Storm Water Drainage

Mother nature can be confounding at times. It seems like just recently we were being pounded by rainfall and the drainage system was being tested to the limits. Now, we are experiencing an extended period of dry weather. We will be taking this opportunity to complete our drainage maintenance projects. This year we are focusing on the Rio de Janeiro/Neapolitan area. There are other areas on our priority list and these will be done later in the fiscal year. We always conserve a portion of the annual budget for emergencies. For example, on September 7, 2016 we experienced a 7-inch rainfall event and the revetment on the south side of Rampart Boulevard between Nuremberg and Mazatlan was washed out and we were able to complete repairs with the remaining budget for fiscal year 2015/2016 (October 2105 – September 2016).
